ABOUT ME:

I am a well-rounded designer who is always eager to learn; whether that is trying out new software, technology, or ideas. I am comfortable taking on criticism in my work because I understand that feedback only helps me grow and evolve as a designer. "To live a creative life, we must lose our fear of being wrong." - Joseph Chilton Pearce.

My passion and curiosity constantly keeps me in the loop on new upcoming trends and methods to communicate to people. Whilst working with clients, I have learnt to incorporate their specifications, as well as, my own sense of design to help their business grow. I am now seeking an opportunity where I can use my attributes to enhance my skills and work experience whilst having a beneficial effect on the business of an employer. I do have a good work ethic and strongly believe in being a reliable designer that clients or employers can trust and come back to.
